

EVENTS

FALL 2004 LECTURE SERIES SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, AND CULTURE IN GERMAN HISTORY

All lectures will be held at the German Historical Institute, 1607 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Washington D.C.

Refreshments will be served at 6 p.m. Lectures begin at 6:30 p.m.

- September 23 Thomas P. Hughes, University of Pennsylvania
Engineering and Cultural Crises: Germany and America
- October 28 Cathryn Carson, University of California, Berkeley
The German Idea of Natural Science: Heidegger, Habermas, Heisenberg
- November 11 Mark Walker, Union College
Otto Hahn: Responsibility and Repression
- December 2 Kathryn Olesko, Georgetown University
The Forgotten Past: Other Cultures of Science and Technology in German History
- December 9 Paul Lerner, University of Southern California
Pathological Modernity? Psychiatry and Social Problems in Late Nineteenth- and Early Twentieth-Century Germany